There is a gradual improvement in business without any special feature to note. The recent flarry in Wheat has left prices a few cents higher and caused larger transactions. The receipts of fish are increasing, and that trade keeps some money in circulation. The business in real estate is improving, and there is both a legitimate and speculative demand for improved and unimproved property. There is more of a demand for money and the rate remains unchanged. In New York money is quoted at 3a5 on call and in Fa'timore at 412a5. The transactions in local stocks are moderate and we quote:
